COOKIES POLICY

This website uses cookies of its own and of third parties to collect information about visits to and use of our website, and also to display advertising that may be of interest to users. When browsing or using our services, the user accepts the use we make of cookies. However, the user does have the option of preventing the generation of cookies and eliminating the same by selecting the corresponding option in their browser. If a browser has blocked the use of cookies, some of the services and functionalities of the website will not be available.

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small fragment of text that websites send to the browser and that are stored in the user's device, such as their personal computer, mobile telephone, tablet, etc. These files are used by the website to remember information about the visit, such as language preferences and other options, while helps to set things up for their next visit and make the website more useful by personalising its content. Cookies play a very important role improving the experience of using the website.

What do we use cookies for?

We use cookies to compile anonymous, aggregated statistics that allow us to understand how people use our site and to help us improve its structure and content. We cannot identify you personally from this information. Should you not wish to receive cookies, please configure your Internet browser to erase them from the hard drive of your computer, to block them or warn you if installed. To continue without changing the configuration of the cookies simply continue on the website.

OUR USE OF COOKIES

Performance Analytics:

Provide anonymous/aggregated information on user behavior at RENEWIT Google Analytics: for further information on Google Analytics, click here

Necessary:

These cookies are essential for RENEWIT to work properly, allow you to navigate our pages and use our tools. For example, remembering previous actions (the customization of your invitation) when you navigate back to a page in the same session.

Preferences:

These cookies allow our website to remember information that changes the way the site behaves or looks, such as your preferred language. They can also allow users to share pages or favorites and provide access to social media.

Loss of the information stored in a preference cookie may make the website experience less functional but should not prevent it from working.

Performance:

These cookies help us understand how visitors interact with our page providing us information about the areas visited, time spent on page, and any incidents encountered, such as error messages. This helps us to improve the functioning of our website.

These cookies do not identify you as an individual. All information is collected and compiled anonymously.

Security:

We use security cookies to authenticate users, prevent fraudulent use of login credentials, and protect user data from unauthorized parties. You can allow, block or delete cookies stored on your computer by setting your browser options. The user has the option of allowing, blocking or deleting cookies installed in their system by changing the options settings on the browser installed in their device:

To change the cookie settings on Google Chrome:
